

A STEAMER CUTS SCHOONER DOWN

The Ida B. Gibson Struck Amidships by the Leylander Tampican.

WAS FINED FOR ASSAULT

Former United States Inspector in Trouble—Husband Seeks a Divorce.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., April 21.—The three-master schooner Ida B. Gibson, Captain Bradley, was cut down at Sewella Point this morning by the steamship Tampican. The schooner was lumber laden and therefore did not sink below the surface and was towed here. The Tampican was unhurt, but Captain Harrison came ashore to report to the British consul.

The schooner was bound from Suffolk to New York. The Tampican, of the Leyland Line, was bound from Pensacola to Stone House Pool, England, and was leaving here after taking bunker coal. The schooner was getting under way when the gale caught her and sent her across the path of the steamer. She would have been cut in two but for the lumber stopping the schooner's prow. The crew of the schooner scrambled to the deck and on the lumber and were taken off by the boats of the steamer.

FEDERAL OFFICE QUARREL.
Captain John W. Nicholson, of Portsmouth, former United States steamship inspector here, was fined $25 for assault and $10 for abusive language and put under a bond of $500 for good behavior for twelve months, in the Police Court this morning. He pursued Colonel John W. Oast, the superintendent of steamboats for this district, twice yesterday and was prevented from an assault each time by friends who interfered. The animosity is due to the discharge of Captain Nicholson from office on the charges of interference preferred by Colonel Oast. The feeling is bitter between the men and it was in evidence that Captain Nicholson had made threats against Colonel Oast, so that Colonel Oast demanded that Captain Nicholson be put under bond, as he said there might be serious trouble if he were pursued hereafter.

SEEKING A DIVORCE.
J. W. Spratley, of Portsmouth, brought his wife and Robert Pethers into the Police Court today with evidence convicting them of living together illegally and had them fined $50 each and sent to jail on conviction. It was announced by Spratley's attorney that the arrest was intended as the foundation for a divorce suit. In the court the wife, who is good looking and intelligent, made a sensational charge against her husband. The Spratleys, who were married in Norfolk county sixteen years ago, lived up to six months or more ago in Berkeley. Then, she said, she went to Portsmouth and Spratley is now employed in Wilson's bakery on Effingham Street.

His wife, she said, declared in December last that she loved Pethers better than she did him and left him in Portsmouth, carrying six children, one of whom the boy in court afterwards went with her. Spratley said his oldest daughter was fifteen years old. It developed that of the children two are very pretty twins.

GROCERY AND RESIDENCE BURNED.
The grocery store of Nichols & Hodges, at Chestnut and Queen Streets, in Portsmouth, was burned this morning with a loss of $2,500. The high wind carried the fire across upon Street and burned eight houses occupied by negroes, making a loss of $100,000. The fire was difficult to control because of the wind, but it was subdued at 2:30, after burning three hours.

Mayor J. G. Riddick will open the Elks' bazaar at the regimental armory next Tuesday night.

Colonel A. M. Higgins, commanding the Seventy-first Virginia Infantry, will be chief marshal of the parade. He and his aides will be mounted. The colonel has mapped out a line of march for the torchlight parade of Norfolk and Portsmouth Elks that will precede the opening of the bazaar.

DEATH OF MR. SIMPSON.
Charles T. Simpson, aged 60 years, associated with his son, George W. Simpson, in the furniture business on Church Street, died suddenly last night at the home of his son in Riverview.

C. T. Townley, the policeman, was tried again today for the second time on the charge of getting $700 from Ruby Ford, of Avon Street, on the false pretense that he would procure the release of her sailor husband, Harry Halcott, from the naval prison ship Southey. He was convicted of desertion. There was a mistrial on the defense that the woman was part guilty and could not recover if she were in a conspiracy to bribe. The same defense was offered by G. C. Oaboll, for the policeman. The woman says she trusted the policeman with the money because she supposed the police were for the protection, not the robbery, of the people. The trial will be resumed Monday.

BOILER EXPLOSION IN AMELIA COUNTY

Fireman Killed and Several Men Hurt—The Mill Wrecked.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
AMELIA, VA., April 21.—One man was killed and several hurt by a boiler explosion at the mill of Bruce and Duval near Grubb Hill Church, seven miles north of this place.

The large thirty-horsepower boiler exploded without warning about 11:30 o'clock this morning, when the mill was in full operation, and eight men moving about the shed under which the machinery was operating.

The shed was torn to pieces, scattered about, and the engine, which was located on top of the boiler, was blown away in one direction, while the boiler itself, which burst near the fire box, was pitched over and over several times, striking the ground and finally stopping over one hundred yards away.

The fireman, Fred Givens, was killed instantly. Pat Jeter was seriously cut and hurt, and another man painfully hurt. All the men were negroes. Mr. L. E. Duval, himself the general manager of the Virginia and Carolina State and Lumber Company, who operates several large lumber mills, was present at the time of the accident, and though he and his horses were within a few feet of the flying boiler, they escaped unhurt.

LAY A CORNER-STONE AT POWHATAN C. H.

Impressive Ceremonies Monday in Connection With the New Baptist Church.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
POWHATAN C. H., April 21.—The corner-stone of the new Baptist Church to be erected at this place, will be laid on Monday, April 24, at 10 o'clock. The services will be under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. J. T. Reynolds, and the Committee of Arrangements, Dr. R. D. Tucker, chairman.

The corner-stone laying proper will be conducted by the Masonic order, and while the Masonic ceremonies will be under the immediate supervision of the Cumberland Courthouse Lodge, still Masons from Dove Lodge, Malden, Va.; DeWitt Lodge, Carverville, Tenn.; and Clayville Lodge, will participate in the ceremonies. Immediately after the laying of the corner-stone, a distinguished representative of the Masonic order, Rev. W. H. Lawson, of Hatcher, Va., who was formerly a district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Virginia. At the conclusion of this address dinner and refreshments will be served by the ladies at popular prices for the benefit of the building fund.

In the afternoon addresses will be delivered by Rev. J. M. Picher, Judge J. O. Reynolds, and perhaps others, after which the exercises will be closed with appropriate remarks and prayer by the pastor.

PROPOSED NEW STATE.

Slomp's Only Chance of Becoming Governor.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., April 21.—Congressman Slomp is still full of the idea of a new State to be carved out of portions of Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. The territory proposed for this purpose is immensely rich in coal, minerals and timber, and would in the opinion of Congressman Slomp and other supporters be the richest State in the Union. The territory that would be affected by such action already ready to the idea and are perhaps unanimously in favor of the plan. He says that Congressman Brownlow has estimated that the new State would be Republican by a majority of 75,000.

The establishment of such a State might precipitate the liveliest sort of a fight between Congressman Slomp and Congressman Brownlow as to which should be its first Governor.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Negro Makes Close Run Against White Member.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., April 21.—The annual encampment of the G. A. R., Department of Virginia and North Carolina, was held at the Hampton Soldiers' Home today. The feature of the closing session to-night was a hot fight between Charles H. Osborne, of Phoebus, and Isaac Powell, a negro, of Newbern, N. C., for the office of commander. The white man was elected by a majority of three. The other officers were named as follows: Senior Vice-Commander, Isaac Powell; Junior Vice-Commander, William H. Carter; Chaplain, Dr. James P. Carter, Norfolk; Assistant Adjutant, A. A. Hager, Phoebus. Delegates to the national encampment at Denver: Dr. James P. Carter, Frank M. Work, of the Soldiers' Home; Alternates, A. P. Richmond, and Francis McCabe, Soldiers' Home.

CHARLES CITY COURT.

Candidates for the House Address the Voters.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLES CITY, C. H., April 21.—The regular term of Circuit Court was held yesterday, Judge D. Gardner presiding. There were two applicants for liquor license, Messrs. Waddill and Walker. Both were granted, there being no opposition to either.

Judge T. Ashby Wickham and Thomas W. Gardner, candidates for State Senate from this district, addressed the voters. They made short speeches in their own behalf, and also made many friends.

THREAT TO KILL.

Negro Imprisoned and Heavily Fined in Mecklenburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
JEFFERSON, VA., April 21.—An affair occurred here last night between Major T. J. Harrison, of the Virginia State Police, and a negro, during which the negro drew a revolver and threatened to kill Mr. Harrison, for which he was taken to jail. He was held in the county jail and will spend one year in the county jail and to pay a fine of $100.

Fire in Charlotte.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SAXE, CHARLOTTE COUNTY, VA., April 21.—A large barn, owned by Mr. J. V. Gaines farm, two miles north of this place, was destroyed by fire yesterday about 10 o'clock. The barn and corn were owned by Mr. J. H. Scott, a renter, and his wife had some chicks raked up and set aside. The barn and corn were saved, but the thought had put it all out, and went to her mother's in the afternoon about one mile away. It is supposed that the fire broke out again from the chip pile, as the wind was very high.

Scott lost nearly all he had in the way of meat, corn, feed, harness and plows, with no insurance, and no insurance on building.

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 23, 1905.

Studies in the New Testament.

SPECIAL EASTER LESSON—Luke xxiv:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—"He is risen from the dead."—Matthew xxviii:7.

By REV. J. E. GILBERT, D. D., Secretary American Society of Religious Education.

INTRODUCTION.—Our lesson has reference to the great church festival (Acts ii:1-4), which is observed by hundreds of millions of Christians. It is a comforting reflection that Oriental, Catholic, Lutheran, Anglican and Reformed, divided on many matters of creed, government and worship, nevertheless unite in commemorating the resurrection of Jesus. Around the globe may be heard the joyous notes of the Easter anthem, proclaiming the spiritual unity which is in the prophecy of that kingdom which he came to establish. At each succeeding anniversary new interest is awakened in the resurrection of Jesus. From a thousand sources increasing light has been shed upon it, until its every incident is resplendent with heavenly truth. Art and literature combined have enlisted the highest genius of all the centuries to render vivid the scenes at the sepulchre of Joseph of Arimathea. And yet the story, which has so inspired painter and sculptor, poet and musician, may be soon told. Guided by the outline of Luke, and dwelling in the tenderness of the other evangelists, we shall occupy but little space.

EVENTS.—Jesus was crucified on Friday afternoon. The Sabbath of the Jews began at 6 o'clock of the same day, ended at 6 o'clock on Saturday. During all this time while the ritual services of the Sabbath were being observed, the body of Jesus rested in the embrace of the tomb. The night of Saturday came on, reckoned by the Jews to the beginning of the first day of the week, and the Roman soldiers continued their watch over the sepulchre. Finally, the tumult of the great metropolis, and the shouts of the multitude, broke in upon the silence of the night. The soldiers, so far as mortal could judge the Nazarene and His cause had perished and His enemies had triumphed. The night of the resurrection dawned. The angel of the Lord descended from heaven. His countenance was like lightning, his raiment as snow. For fear of him the keepers of the sepulchre trembled and became as dead men. The angel rolled back the stone and sat upon it. The open door of the sepulchre beheld by no human eye, the mighty conqueror of death (Psa. lxxviii:20).

WITNESSES.—The great hour in which the foregoing events occurred is unknown, but it is recorded that the soldiers, recovering from their fright, fled to the east. (Matt. xxviii:14, 15.) After they had left a company of women came to the sepulchre. Among them were Mary Magdalene, Joanna, Mary the mother of James and other women. They were moved by a commendable purpose to anoint the body of their loved Master, whose death they supposed to be absolute and final. They brought sweet spices, which had been purchased (Ch. xxiii:56) probably on Friday evening after the burial. They were ignorant of the watch and seal which had been set after their departure from the sepulchre (Matt. xxviii:6); also these doing disciples were transformed into bold witnesses, preaching to enemies and scoffers, and gaining them to the faith in the resurrection and out of them forming the first Christian church. And those same apostles, going out from the center, proclaimed the resurrection in the regions beyond, sealing their testimony with their blood. Over all the portals of the annals of every pious heart let these words of truth be engraved.

CONCLUSION.—Is this New Testament record worthy of our faith? Did Jesus rise from the dead? What answer to this question Christianity stands or falls, and human hope live or perish (1 Cor. xv:14). Notice the argument. He lived. He was put to death. His death was irrevocable. The women believed the same. The latter displayed that belief the former doubted after the resurrection had been announced. "But he must rise again," or understood his own predictions (John xx:9). So all this early testimony went for naught until confirmed by subsequent events. And this occurred near the city where He was crucified. Yet there, a short time afterward, these doing disciples were transformed into bold witnesses, preaching to enemies and scoffers, and gaining them to the faith in the resurrection and out of them forming the first Christian church. And those same apostles, going out from the center, proclaimed the resurrection in the regions beyond, sealing their testimony with their blood. Over all the portals of the annals of every pious heart let these words of truth be engraved.

REBUTAL.—To the lack of faith. The dead; the living! (Rev. i:18). The whole gospel was in those words. Crucified, risen! (Rom. i:23). An angel had compressed and announced concerning Jesus what a world of ailed mortals need to know. The speaker then reminded the women that this declaration was in harmony with the promise of the Father (John vi:39) and with His promise to meet the disciples in Galilee (Matt. xxviii).

TRUTH.—Thus the first intelligence of the resurrection was delivered to a company of women, standing in the very place where the body of Jesus had been laid. They were received with astonishment (Mark xvi:8), and with great joy (Matt. xxviii:9). They remembered what Jesus had said, and they were the first believers in the risen Christ. They hastened they ran into the city. They sought the eleven disciples, perhaps assembled in their usual place of meeting (Acts i:13) or more likely, scattered in their different lodgings about the city. They all told one story, expanding the angel's message. "He is risen, dwelling with enthusiasm upon the details of their visit, rehearsing it many times, answering questions, removing doubts, eloquent with faith and radiant hope. Those women preachers were not ordained. He, the stout angel, who had opened the sepulchre, commissioned them, and that was enough. He said, 'Go quickly and tell' (Matt. xxviii:10), and they obeyed. The women were wonderful to be true. It seemed to the apostles to be but idle talk. And yet the women were too good to be untruthful; too earnest to be rejected.

Miss Mamie Hatley Was the Winner at Spencer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SALISBURY, N. C., April 21.—To-night at the close of the spring carnival, Miss Mamie Hatley, of this place, was crowned "Queen of the Carnival," which is being held in Spencer, this week. Five young ladies participated in the contest. The total vote reached 4,460. The sum of $104.60 was expended for voting tickets.

Following the crowning of the Queen a grand ball was tendered in her honor, the same being largely attended.

Miss Julia Beus, another popular young lady here was second in the race, receiving 17,916 votes.

FORMER HUSBAND MUST GIVE MRS. CUNARD $9,469

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 21.—The litigation between Mrs. Florence Cunard, of Philadelphia, and her former husband, Edward M. Padelford, of Washington, D. C., which has occupied the Philadelphia courts for several years, was brought to a conclusion by a final judgment in her favor yesterday for $9,469.00.

Before her marriage the plaintiff was a well-to-do woman, noted for her beauty and for her beauty, but the couple only lived together for a few years, when the Supreme Court of New York upon the young wife's application, granted her an absolute divorce. The court ordered her husband to pay her $3,000 a year for the rest of her life and $2,000 a year for the maintenance and education of an only daughter. She took her daughter to England, where she married Ernest Halliburton Cunard, of Philadelphia, in 1900.

Upon her marriage the payments ordered by the New York court were stopped.
